Dear Placement Team,

I hope this email finds you well.

I am writing to inform you that I, Venu Kumari G M, am currently not looking for placement opportunities, as I have decided to focus on preparing for government exams, particularly the UPSC. I appreciate the efforts of the placement team in organizing and facilitating opportunities for all students and value the support extended to us throughout the process.

Please let me know if you need any additional formalities or documentation from my end regarding this update. I will ensure timely compliance.

Thank you for your understanding and support.

Warm regards,
Venu Kumari G M

Subject: Confirmation of Interest in Placement Opportunities

Good afternoon mam,

I would like to confirm that I am genuinely interested in placement opportunities, particularly those offering packages of ₹7 L Finance and Supply chain domain. I understand the importance of staying engaged, and I assure you of my active participation. Additionally, I would like to clarify that I am already a part of the official placement communication group and I will regularly check over there.

Thank you for your email and for consistently supporting us throughout the placement season.

With regards,

As we approach the final phase of the placement season, we have observed that you have not been actively engaging with the opportunities being shared, particularly those offering packages below ₹9 LPA. This has been noted despite multiple reminders and personal discussions.

Additionally, we've noticed that few students have not joined the official placement communication group, which further limits your access to important updates and opportunities.

We truly appreciate your aspiration for roles with higher compensation, and based on our discussions with you, we have understood that your interest lies primarily in higher CTC or dream company opportunities. Based on your current level of engagement and your preference for higher-package roles, we are assuming that you are not interested in participating in the remaining placement process.

However, if and when companies offering higher CTCs or dream roles are scheduled to visit, we welcome you to connect with the Placement Department to explore those opportunities.

With Regards,
