IQAC Presentation

- Insecurities and uncertainties are always in our mind when we begin walking on a new path. To ease this tension and anxiety for the new incoming batch, a week long orientation programme was organized. Through the course of the program the students were introduced to the life at the center which revolves around an array of activities alongside studies, researches, community services and many more. The main aim of the Orientation Programme is to help them understand the values, ethics and culture of the college and to showcase the myriad academic and co-curricular learning opportunities the college provides.
- This orientation program highlighted to the students that learning in RVIM is not restricted to classroom studies rather they are encouraged to take part in various activities in college and also outside college to hone their skills and emerge as the best version of themselves by providing various opportunities and skill sets which shapes them for a bright future ahead.
