“Computer Literacy Programme for Senior Citizens (CLPSC)”

4th September 2006 to 22st May 2016

R.V. Institute of Management has successfully completed a major community Programme – titled “Computer Literacy Programme for Senior Citizens” for 25 batches to impart basic computer training for citizen aged 60 years and above in Bangalore. The trainees included Doctors, Lawyers, Retired Bank Managers, Retired Income tax officers, and Retired personnel from armed forces and from all walks of life.

This philanthropic project was initiated by Institute Director Dr.T.V.Raju during 2006, with first training session batch of 20 members under guidance of Prof.N.Nagasubba Reddy. The great response received from the senior members made RVIM to plan and execute as many as 25 batches with a total of 1090 members in the succeeding years. The total beneficiaries of this programme include 750 men and 340 women. 90% of the trainees were in the age group of 65 to 90 years and the rest 10% were in the age group of 60 to 65 years.

The present 25th Batch started in the month of February 2016 & concluded during second week of May 2016 with a term end examination (Theory and Practice). Certificates are issued to all participants. Classes were held on all working days from 5 pm-6.30pm.

All the participants were trained to communicate to their grand children, sons and daughters staying far away and in foreign countries. They were able to exchange mails, photos and talk over the Internet, use Skype, face book, and use online booking for railway, train and movie tickets. The internet search helped them to find information on medical support and guidance through various websites. Transactions like online payment of electricity and other bills, bank remittance, digital India awareness, social sites communication, health support and online doctor service and many more.

Apart from computer learning the senior citizens are offered Medical Camp, Sports and Picnic. The formal inclusion of CLPSC Alumni Association in the 25th Batch shall mark a new beginning for a good network and support among the beneficiaries.

This programme is considered to be unique and first of this kind time in the world, and is offered free of cost by the institute as a part of its social responsibility.

Gist of the speech by Hon'ble Justice M.N.Venkatachaliah, May 22, 2016

Justice spoke to the entire participant in a humours note.

He mentioned that the 20th century was 100 years of science and 21st century will be 20,000 years of science. He emphasized the need for learning to use computer to keep pace with the technological development. At the same time he cautioned the dangers of being too much dependent on computers as it may affect the human relations. He guided the audience to be careful about cyber crimes and suggested to include teaching of cyber security to senior citizens along with the basic use of computers.(In a lighter sense with laughing he said to senior citizens that by learning to use computers it has saved our self respect from our grand children as today's children are with I pad) .

He inaugurated the Alumni Association of Computer Literacy Programme for Senior citizen by clicking the button.

He congratulated the institute director (Dr.T.V.Raju) for doing a yeomen service to the society by completing 25 batches of CLPSC.
