Mobile Phone Communication Skills for Senior Citizens

R.V. Institute of Management organized training programme on August 6, 2016 to impart necessary skills to use android and smart phones for day to day communications .The practical training session helped senior citizens in learning to use apps, communicate to their grandchildren , order online products , fundamentals of bank transactions and booking online tickets for travel and WhatsApp

Thirty senior citizens attended the training session and were grateful for organizing such programme which they felt it was very essential for them. Also they felt that their own grand children don't help them to learn and use smart phones.

Faculty- Prof. Rashmi Shetty, Assistant Professor, RVIM and twelve student volunteers provided the hands on training session to use the smart phone from the beginning i.e. switch on- to book a cab service. Later the participants were encouraged to explore themselves to find necessities.
